“ I'm going to miss you so much, Pawpaw. Everybody's memory of you has to do with that dang rocking chair you loved so much. You rocked every single one of us in that chair... My only wish is that you could have been able to rock my girls too. I love you, pawpaw..

“ I think my favorite memories are ask the days I would be in his chair when he got home from work.... He would walk up to me and growl with a big smile on his face.... That growl was him telling me to get out of his chair..... And
He was great with my kids, he would sit out back on the swing with them all the time when they were small. He is one of the kindest, sweetheart, moving living and giving men I have ever had the privilege to know. I will carry him in my heart forever.... I love you Poppa

“ We love you dad. Your memory will stay alive through us all. I wish I had more time with you but we will see each other again one day.

“ I remember when we were small how dad use to sit in his rocking chair and take turns rocking all of us. I enjoyed being able to spend the last two months talking and laughing before he passed away. The entire time he was at my home he would slave me around saying get me this get me that bring me to the store lol. But the greatest memory I have that far beats any was when he went to church with me in July of 2017 and gave his life back to God! I love him so much and wish I could have had more time with him.
