“ Corey was a friend of our family for many years. Our birthdays were a day apart so even during the years we didn't hear much from him, I always new I'd get a happy birthday message and he always got one from me. He joined my husband and I on day trips to go kayaking, had some great times fishing with my husband, and the two us spent countless hours over the years talking about books that we both loved. Hanging out for the Spanish Town Mardi Gras parade were some of the best times we all had together. Corey had a real talent for mixing music and we really loved those nights so many years ago when he would visit and play DJ in our living room. Corey was also fiercely intelligent; he never ceased to amaze us with his random trivia, ability to fix things or the creative ways he came up about how to solve a problem. Too many years have passed since the days when he would be a frequent visitor to our home. Sometimes the path of our lives and of friends and good neighbors will diverge and go off in different directions. You always assume those paths will cross again. Surely there's time for another fishing trip. You feel certain you will talk again when the last two books in that series you both love finally come out. In your 40s and 50s, it still feels like you have plenty of time to make those plans, to reach out and catch up with someone you care about. When my husband and I got the news of Corey's passing we couldn't believe it. Life is fleeting and understanding that is a lesson on how precious it is and is a reminder of the importance of staying more present in the lives of those you care about. Our hearts hurt for Corey's parents, siblings, and everyone in his family. Peace be with you.

“Where do I begin? Corey was the first friend I had after moving into O’Neal Place! We went to BREC camp together and I’ll never forget the moment Corey caught a Water Moccasin, which we had dismissed as “just a water snake.” When a camp counselor saw what we had, he literally threw the snake on the roof of BREC so no other kids would be exposed to it. Lol Corey and Russell Tackett became my best friends instantly. We grew an incredible bond over the years we grew up together. I will never forget the number of times we “camped out” in the woods, stayed up all night and eventually went back to our homes to sleep in the early morning hours. lol Russell passed away due to a car accident and we were pallbearers, who laid our best friend to rest. That is a moment that I don’t believe Corey or myself ever got over! Burying a best friend at the age of 15/16 was incredibly difficult and we claimed ourselves as the “Bonham Brothers.” As the years passed, Corey and I stayed in touch. No matter how much time passed, we would pick up our conversation like we hadn’t missed a moment! Corey and I had an annual tradition of heading down to New Orleans to visit the House of Shock haunted house, which we always enjoyed and looked forward to. Corey is and always will be a brother/family to me! I am extremely thankful to have shared so many memories with him and wish we had more to share. I miss Corey so much and wish I could turn back time, but I find comfort knowing know in my heart that Corey and Russ are reunited in heaven. Therefore, I know this is more of a “see you later” rather than a “goodbye.” ! I hate that he’s gone, but I’m happy he’s at peace and not suffering! I love you, Corey!!
