“ I have many memories of this man, throughout the last few years. Since my daughter, Madison and his grandson, Austin have been together. The greatest thing he did, was accept my daughter's first son, into their family, as his own great grandchild. He was noble that way. And once Austin and Madison had their son, Asher, his happiness was his family. He accepted us, at all the holidays and any surprise visits. And when he wasn't there, we knew he was at his 2nd home, "the camp". He definitely helped everyone who needed it. And I believe that the minute he walked into heaven, he was greeted by so many people. The ones he gave to with no question. This old country boy might have hung up his final straw hat. But the teachings and love he gave Austin, Madison and their boys won't be lost or forgotten. Bc Austin, Eli and Asher are who they are today. Bc of Marvin McCon! I'm eternally grateful for everything he did for my babies. They all are lost without him. RIP pawpaw Marvin!
