“ I will cherish the memories of our many long and intellectual discussions on life. Sam was always searching for something. Open minded. Always ready to learn or examine something new. Never was there boring and meaningless small talk. He understood me and I him. He was a true friend and I feel like I failed him in some way. He will be greatly missed.

“ I met rizzo in an online chat room and we talked almost everyday for a year and a half. I loved our conversations about work and his stories from when he was serving our country. I'm sad we never got to hit a bar and grab a beer together like we talked about doing. I'm going to miss hearing his laugh and our conversations ranging from ipa beer and work. You were a great man rizzo . I will miss you.

“ I will very much miss Sam spending time at my house. It seems like he partly grew up there. I will miss Sam's funny personality and it breaks my heart that he is not here. Yes, Sam has gone through some difficult times but the grace in his life was always knowing that his Mom was there for him. Erin, I am so sorry for your loss. You, your family and Sam's friends will be in my thoughts and prayers during these difficult times. Love on your loved ones, appreciate every day that is given to you. Never take life for granted.
